TAKE NOTICE,

THAT I am to be sold on such terms, that the purchaser need not advance any cash, unless he pleases, till it is earned by my services, provided no accident happens me; or, if you please, I am to be farmed out for two years, and not less I am a bright bay, full 15¼ hands high, of noble descent, my name is TRIMMER—I was got by Hall's imported horse Eclipse, my dam, purchased by Doctor Hall, was got by the imported horse Slim; my grand dam was got by Old Figure; my great grand dam by Taskers Othello out of Selima, &c. &c. as will more fully appear by William Lyle's attested certificate who raised me. My character as a racer is well established; I won the colt's purse at Bladensburg of twenty guineas; I won a fifty guinea purse at Baltimore, a fifty guinea purse at Annapolis and a fifty guinea purse at Hagerstown. I never lost a race but the last I run at Alexandria, which was owning to my being badly shod, as I lost all my plates before I got in. V.

The holders of warrants for military services sufficient to cover one or more quarter townships or tracts of four thousand acres each, shall, at any time after Monday the 17th day of February, 1800 and prior to the first day of January, 1802, be allowed to register the said warrants in manner aforesaid, and forthwith to make locations therefor on any tract or tracts of land not before located.

VI.

SALEM, March 5.

A SEA FIGHT,

Gallantly and victoriously maintained by the ship Perseverance, capt. Richard Wheatland, of this port, against one of the vessels of the "Terrible Republic." The French rascals, contrary to the laws of war and of honor, fought under false colors, whilst the Eagle, true to his charge, spread his wings on the American flag!

The following is capt. Wheatland's letter to his owners.

Ship Perseverance, Old Straits of Bahama, Jan. 1, 1799.

GENTLEMEN,

CONCEIVING we may possibly meet an opportunity of forwarding this immediately on our arrival at the Havannah, or perhaps before, induces me to give an account of our voyage thus far.

Until 26th December met with nothing very material, except heavy disagreeable weather, off the coast; and having the winds so far to the westward as to preclude the possibility of getting round the Bank, were compelled, contrary to our wishes, to go through the Old Streights of Bahama. On the afternoon of the 27th, were boarded by the British frigate Romilla, capt. Rolles, our papers examined, and we treated with great politeness. They purchased (at our own prices) a number of articles from the cargo and of the people. Three days before, they had captured a French privateer sloop, of 10 guns and 60 men, and retook an American brig, her prize. After two hours detention we were permitted to proceed, which we did, without meeting any interruption, till Monday, 31st December—for particulars of that day, we give an extract from a journal kept on board.

"December 31st, Key Romain in sight, bearing South, distance 4 or 5 leagues—A schooner has been in chase of us since eight o'clock, and has every appearance of a privateer. At 1 o'clock P. M. finding the sch. came up with us very fast, took in steering sails, fore and aft, and royals; at half past one, about ship and stood for her; she immediately tacked and made sail from us; we fired a gun to leeward, and hoisted the American ensign to our mizen peak; she hoisted a Spanish jack at main-top-mast head, and continued to run from us. Finding she outsailed us greatly, and wishing to get through the narrows in the Old Streights, at two o'clock, P. M. we again about ship and kept on our course. The schooner immediately wore, fired a gun to leeward, and kept after under a great press of sail. At half past 2 she again fired a gun to leeward; but perceiving ourselves in the narrows above mentioned, we kept on, to get through them if possible before she came up with us, which we effected. At 3 o'clock, finding ourselves fairly clear of Sugar Key and Key Laboas, we took in steering sails, wore ship, hauled up our courses, piped all hands to quarters, and prepared for action. The schooner immediately took in sail, struck the Spanish jack, hoisted an English union flag, and passed under our lee at a considerable distance. We wore ship, she did the same, and passed each other within half musket. A fellow hailed us in broken English, and ordered the boat hoisted out, and the captain to come on board with his papers, which he refused: he again ordered our boat out, and enforced his orders with a menace, that in case of refusal he would sink us!!! using at the same time the vilest and most infamous language it is possible to conceive of. By this time he had fallen considerably astern of us: he wore and came up on our starboard quarter, giving us a broadside as he passed our stern, but fired so excessively wild that he did us very little injury, while our stern chasers gave him a noble dose of round shot and langrage. We hauled the ship to wind, and as he passed us poured a whole broadside into him with great success. Sailing faster than we, he ranged considerably a head, tacked and again passed, giving us a broadside and a furious discharge of musketry, which they kept up incessantly till the latter part of the engagement; his musket balls reached us in every direction; but his large shot either fell short or went considerably over us: while our guns, loaded with round shot and square bars of iron six inches long, were plied so briskly, and directed with so good judgment, that before he got out of our reach we had cut his mainsail and foretopsail all to rags, and cleared his decks so effectually, that when he bore away from us there were scarcely ten men to be seen. He then struck his English and hoisted the flag of the "Terrible Republic," and made off with all the sail she could carry, much disappointed, no doubt, at not having been able to give us a fraternal embrace. The wind being light, and knowing that he would outsail us, added to a solicitude to complete our voyage, prevented our pursuing him; Indeed we had sufficient to gratify our revenge for his temerity; for there was scarcely a single fire from our guns but what spread entirely over his hull—the action which lasted an hour and twenty minutes, we conceive ended well; for exclusive of preserving the property entrusted to our care, we feel a confidence we have rid the world of some infamous pests of society.—We were within musket shot the whole time of the engagement, and were so fortunate as to receive but very trifling injury; not a person on board met the slightest harm. Our sails were a little torn, and one of the quarter deck guns dismounted. The privateer was a schooner of 80 or 90 tons, copper bottom, and fought five or six guns on a side.

We are now within 48 hours sail of Havannah, where we expect to arrive in safety: indeed we have no fear of any privateers's preventing us, unless greatly superior in force.—The 4 quarter deck guns will require new carriages; one of them was entirely dismounted.

We remain with esteem,
Gentlemen,
Your humble servant,
RICHARD WHEATLAND.

Capt. Wheatland, in a letter from the Havanna, of the 16th of January, adds—

"The Gentleman we brushed in the Old Straits, 3 days after captured a brig from Charleston, and detained the captain 16 days on board, and then gave him the boat and set the crew adrift. The captain has since arrived here, and informs us that the privateer was a schooner of 8 six pounders and 50 men; that a number of her people were dangerously wounded; that she had four round shot through her bottom, a bar iron through her counter, and four feet water in her hold, when she got away; that her sails were cut entirely to pieces, any the boat on her deck was shattered by the discharge of our bar-iron. The villain fought under English colours. In fact they capture under English and American flags altogether. It is impossible to discriminate; and every armed vessel that approaches us (under whatever colours) if we can manage her, shall be fired into. The master of the privateer observed to the captain, while he was detained on board, that his men were armed 30 of them with pistols and a short dagger each, and were prepared and determined to board the ship, but our booms and boarding nettings deterred him. The rascals run up along side American ships, under English colours, and jump on board, and capture the vessels before they are sensible of it. He had no idea we should dare fire into a vessel with the English union hoisted."

The gallantry of young Mr. Ingersoll, on board the Perseverance, we are well assured, contributed greatly to second the determined bravery of Captain Wheatland in defending the ship. Indeed the whole ship's company deserve well of their owners and of their country.

LEGISLATURE

Of Rhode-Island & Providence Plantations.

FEBRUARY SESSION, 1799.

Certain Resolutions of the Legislature of Kentucky, passed on the 10th day of November last, being communicated to this Assembly:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Legislature, the second section of the third article of the constitution of the United States, in these words, to wit:—The judicial power shall extend to all cases, arising under the laws of the United States, vests in the Federal Courts, exclusively, and in the Supreme Court of the United States, ultimately, the authority of deciding on the constitutionality of any act or law of the Congress of the United States.

Resolved, That for any State Legislature to assume that authority would be,

1st. Blending together legislative and judicial powers.

2d. Hazarding an interruption of the peace of the States by civil discord, in case of a diversity of opinions among the State Legislatures; each State having in that case no resort for vindicating its own opinion, but to the strength of its own arm.

3d. Submitting most important questions of law, to less competent tribunals; and

4th. An infraction of the Constitution of the United States, expressed in plain terms.

Resolved, That altho for the above reasons this Legislature, in their public capacity, do not feel themselves authorised to consider and decide on the constitutionality of the Sedition and Alien laws (so called) yet they are called upon by the exigency of this occasion, to declare, that in their private opinions, these laws are within the powers delegated to Congress, and promotive of the welfare of the United States.

Resolved, That the Governor communicate these Resolutions to the Supreme Executive of the State of Kentucky, and at the same time express to him, that this Legislature cannot contemplate, without extreme concern and regret, the many evil and fatal consequences which may flow from the very unwarrantable Resolutions aforesaid, of the Legislature of Kentucky, passed on the tenth day of November last.

The above resolutions, and similar ones in answer to those of Virginia were concurred in by both Houses with only one dissenting voice.

Charters were granted to the Providence Insurance Company, and to an Insurance Company about to be established in Newport.

Last evening died, after a short illness, in the 52d year of his age, Mr. MORDECAI LEWIS of this city, merchant—A gentleman, who possessed the highest mercantile abilities, the strictest honor, the utmost punctuality, in all his dealings, and who, for many years conducted an extensive and lucrative trade, to many parts of the world, with sound judgment and unsullied probity—In his decease many have to lament the removal of a friend, on whose opinions and candor, they could securely repose.—And many, who under the pressure of penury and wretchedness, were sure to receive, from his benevolent spirit, the most generous assistance.

The great Philosopher of America, has lately burnt an imitation of this beautiful Carmen, which he had nearly completed, and having resolved on continuing to take an active part in public affairs, is at this moment engaged in framing a new Constitution for us, after the model of the French Pentarchy, which is to be brought on the tapis as soon as he succeeds to the Presidency.

A custom of pernicious tendency prevails in America, in regard to marriages—it is that of Justices performing the ceremony. The objections to this custom are as obvious as they are numerous: and yet no one has ever attempted to reform it.

It is a little curious that no Lawyer could be found to perform the simple task of publishing the law reports; and that the field must be left to a motlied Harlequino, whose whole life has been a constant satire upon all law.

It is much to be lamented, that those two admirable satires, the Baviad and Mœviad, and the Pursuits of Literature, have not yet found an edition in this country: They have already passed through many in England, and are in fact ranked amongst the standard productions of British Literature. The folly at which these great geniuses have stooped to aim their shafts is still rampant here—Merry is still idolized*—Robinson still adored. Is an everlasting bar to be opposed to the introduction of British literature? And are we also continually to chill the germs of native genius with the killing frost of neglect?

Shall the keen ire of C—'s classic Muse,
No deeper trace leave, than the Post-boy's news?
Nay, sink with weight of liberty and law,†
And feel the power that dar'd his aim to draw;

And all her fustian fools erect again?
Shall lucid D——, waste in obscure shade,
His noon-tide radiance on the rude boor's head?
Conscious of merit, fill'd with just disdain,
"Pauperiem pati" cry, and cry in vain?
Shall folly, mail'd in brass, subvert the throne,
Of sense and learning, and erect her own?
Their votaries whelm with ignorance and spite,
And ordain fools and fools alone to write?—

Were the absurd opinion, that the yellow fever springs out of the ground, to gain credence, how gloomy would our prospect be: Not all the poppy that has been poured forth on this subject, nor mandragora, nor even the omnipotent abracad. of philosophical medicine, or medical philosophy, could ever medicine us to repose.

But with its glooms it would disturb our sport.

Extract of a letter from Captain THOMAS TRUXTON, to the Secretary of the Navy, dated on board the United States ship Constellation, in sight of the island of St. Christophers, Feb. 10, 1799.

DEAR SIR,

I WROTE you the 4th inst. to which I must beg leave to refer, and soon after weighed from Basseterre road, St. Christophers, and proceeded to sea, having made the necessary arrangements with the merchants and masters of vessels for a convoy, to sail this day for the United States, under charge of the Norfolk and Richmond, which vessels I directed to cruize, in the mean time, near St. Bartholomews and St. Martins, so as to be at hand to proceed with the convoy at the time appointed. As soon as I left the road of Basseterre (which I did with the Constellation solus) I stretched under Montserat and towards Guadaloupe by the wind, and from thence under the lee of Antigua and Bermuda. In this route I only met two merchant vessels, and a British trigate. I therefore thought it best to change my ground, which I did, and run down towards the island of Nevis, and on the 9th instant at noon, that island bearing W. S. W. five leagues distance, discovered a large ship to southward, on which I bore down. She hoisted American colours, and I made our private signals for the day, as well as that of the British, but finding she answered neither, I immediately suspected her to be an enemy, and in a short time after found that my suspicions were well founded, for she hoisted the French national colours, and fired a gun to windward (which is a signal of an enemy). I continued bearing down on her, and a quarter past 3 P. M. she hailed me several times; and as soon as I got in a position for every shot to do execution, I answered by commencing a close and successful engagement, which lasted until about half-past 4 P. M. when she struck her colours to the United States ship Constellation, and I immediately took possession of her.

She proved to be the celebrated French frigate Insurgente, of 40 guns and 407 men, lately out from France, commanded by monsieur Beureaut, and is esteemed one of the fastest sailing ships in the French navy. I have been much shattered in my rigging and sails, and my foretopmast rendered, from wounds, useless; you may depend the enemy is not less so.

I intend to get into Bassaterre road, St. Christophers, if possible, with my prize; but the wind being adverse and blowing hard, I much doubt, in the crippled state of both ships, whether I shall effect it, and if not, I must make a port to leeward. The high state of our discipline, with the gallant conduct of my officers and men, would have enabled me to have compelled a more formidable enemy to have yielded, had the fortune of war thrown one in my way;—as it is, I hope the President and my country will, for the present, be content with a very fine frigate being added to our infant navy, and that too with the loss of only one man killed, and two wounded, while the enemy had (the French surgeon reports) 52 or 53 killed and wounded. Several were found dead in the tops, &c. and thrown overboard 18 hours after we had possession. I must not omit, in this hasty detail, to do justice to monsieur Bureaut, for he defended his ship manfully, and from my raking him several times fore and aft, and being athwart his stern ready with every gun to fire when he struck his colours, we may impute the conflict not being more bloody on our side, for had not these advantages been taken, the engagement would not have ended so soon, for the Insurgente was completely officered and manned.

Extract from Capt. Thomas Truxton to the Secretary of the Navy, dated 14th February.

"On the 13th, after the greatest exertions having been made, we gained these roads with both ships, and anchored them safe about noon. It is impossible for me to state to you the joy demonstrated by the inhabitants on this occasion; the ship was filled with gentlemen of the first dignities in the island, and a salute requested, in order that it might be returned, which was complied with on my part, particularly as it came from a member of the king's council, Mr. Tyson, an old friend of mine of many year's standing.

I have just received a polite letter of congratulation from the commander in chief, who offers me every service in his power; and I have directed all the wounded from on board the Insurgente to be immediately landed, and sent to the hospital.

The following is an accurate return made me this morning by lieutenant Rogers, commanding the prize, taken from the examining officers, of the killed and wounded on board the Insurgente, viz.

killed,	29
badly wounded,	22
wounded more slightly,	19
Total killed and wounded,	70

We had, as I wrote to you only one man killed, and two badly wounded, one of which is since dead, the other is a midshipman, Mr. M'Donough, who lost his foot; an ordiniary seaman was afterwards discovered to be slightly wounded: this is the whole number lost and injured on board the Constellation.

I shall proceed to repair the damages sustained to both ships as speedily as possible, and until the pleasure of the President of the United States, is known, I intend to give Lieut. John Rogers an order to command the Insurgente. He was one of the first Lieutenants appointed, has a claim to being among the first promotions, but a very strong one, for behaving well, and being the first lieutenant of the Constellation, at the capture of the first governmental ship of any consequence, ever made by the arms of the United States at sea since our being known as a nation; the other officers I shall appoint in the same way.

My gun deck is divided into three divisions, the first of five guns and opposite superintended by the first lieutenant, Mr. Rogers. The second of five guns and opposite by the second lieutenant, Mr. Cowper. The third of four guns, and opposite, by the third lieutenant, Mr. Sterett. The zeal of these three officers in performing their duty, and complying strictly with my orders, cannot be surpassed, but I must not, in praise of them, be silent as to the good conduct of Mr. Shirly, the master, and Mr. Archer the 4th lieutenant, who acted their part near my person on the quarter deck, and who are also deserving of notice, but for the honor of our nation, I must declare that is impossible for officers, and men in any service to have behaved better than my people did generally on this occasion; it must therefore not be understood, because I have mentioned the names of a few of the principal gentlemen, that those of an inferior grade in their stations are less deserving; on the contrary, to the lattre I always feel myself most indebted for their exertions in the hour of battle, as they have generally much less at stake, than those in higher stations, and consequently less inducement to display their valour."

The following is the account of the action between the Constellation and Insurgente, to which Captain TRUXTON refers, as correct, in his letter to Mr. Yellot.

From a St. Christopher's paper.

BASSETERRE, Feb. 15, 1799.

On Tuesday last the American frigate Constellation, of 38 guns, commodore Truxton, brought in the French national frigate l'Insurgente, of 40 guns, captain Bureaut, which she captured on the 9th instant, off the south side of this island. The following are the particulars of the action with which we were this day favored:

On the 9th instant, at noon, a large ship was discovered by the Constellation, standing to the westward, to which she immediately gave chase; and at first the commodore supposing her to be a British ship of war, ordered the signal for that day to be hoisted, which not being answered, he then directed the signal for an American ship of war to be displayed, which also was not noticed, but the American ensign run up at the mizen peak of the chase.

As neither of the above signals were answered, the commodore observed that he suspected the chase to be an enemy; and scarcely had he expressed his opinion, when the American ensign was hauled down, the French national flag hoisted, and a gun fired to windward. A croud of canvas was then spread on the Constellation, and every preparation made for action;—at half past two P. M. the main top-mast of the chase went by the cap; the wreck was, however, soon cleared, and the ship put before the wind;—at a quarter past three, Nevis bearing W. S. W. about six leagues distant, the Constellation ranged up along side of her, when the captain hailed several times, but commodore Truxton thought proper to answer him only with his guns, and as soon as they were brought to bear, commenced the engagement by giving the first broadside, which was instantly returned by the Frenchman; but in the course of one hour and a quarter she struck her colors, after being raked fore and aft three times, with the loss of 70 of her men killed and wounded, and very much shattered in her hull, masts, rigging and sails. She proves to be l'Insurgente French frigate, of 40 guns, and 360 men, exclusively of officers, commanded by citizen Bureaut, and is one of the ships lately arrived at Guadaloupe from France.

Extract of a letter from Captain STEPHEN DECATUR, of the United States ship of war, Delaware, dated "Gulph Florida, Feb. 12, '99.

"ON the 8th inst. at 6 P. M. saw a large ship to the northward, standing after us; at the same time discovered several sail running down; we made sail to cut them off from the land, which we soon did, and in the course of half an hour, beat the ship astern hull down. The fleet proved to be the two cutters Governor Jay and General Greene, with the ship America, with provisions for us, and four other smaller vessels, bound to the Havanna. Whilst we were under easy sail, waiting for them, the first mentioned ship came up and fired several shot among the fleet. I immediately hoisted my colours and went along side with all hands to quarters, when the captain hailed me to know where I was from—I answered, from a cruise, and that my ship was the United States ship Delaware, that the sloop and schooner upon my larboard bow, were vessels belonging to the United States, and that the black ship was a vessel loaded by the government with stores for the use of the ships upon the station. He then informed me that his orders were to examine all vessels for the Havanna, for contraband goods, but that he meant to give no trouble or detention. I told him if I was of equal force he should not examine one of them—I then pointed out the ship and the cutters. She proved to be the Solebay, 44 guns, commanded by captain Rowson. While the lieutenant was overhauling a sloop and schooner, hurt at seeing the flag over my head insulted, bore away, and the rest of the fleet followed me, and he did not think proper to detain one of them."

MR. FENNO,

ZEAL for the character of one man, should not make us attempt to destroy that of another. Had Mr. M'Knight used a little more reflection, my name would not have been brought into your paper, in the manner it has been. He has seen the letter of the 31st January from Havanna, from which the extract published was taken; it was written by a man incapable of a deliberate falshood. I shall learn with pleasure that his information was not well founded; but the certificate published, however respectable, do not prove that American vessels had not been sent to the out ports of Cuba, nor that the crews had not reached the Havanna from those ports by land; nor, if the information is true, does it reflect upon captain Decatur, whose activity and character are too well known to want certificates; but his single vessel cannot be every where, nor can he catch every fast sailing privateer, which may be employed to distress our trade—I say our trade, Mr. Fenno, for I have been some years a citizen of the United States, and am as warmly interested in its prosperity as any native citizen can be. It is of little importance to the truth of information, what spot gave birth to the person from whom it came, or the person to whom it was sent. Every nation produces men worthy of credit; but Mr. M'Knight is under an error with respect to me, which I wish to correct.

I was not born in France, but in Switzerland, and it will not be readily imagined, that the misfortunes of my native country, can have given rise to any sentiments injurious to my adopted one.

BY THE PRESIDENT,

Of the UNITED STATES of AMERICA,

A Proclamation.

WHEREAS combinations to defeat the execution of the laws for the valuation of Lands and Dwelling-Houses within the United States, have existed in the counties of Northampton, Montgomery and Bucks, in the state of Pennsylvania, and have proceeded in a manner subversive of the just authority of the government, by misrepresentations to render the laws odious, by deterring the public officers of the United States to forbear the execution of their functions, and by openly threatening their lives: And whereas, the endeavors of the well affected, citizens as well as of the Executive officers, to conciliate a compliance with those laws have failed of success, and certain persons in the county of Northampton aforesaid have been hardy enough to perpetrate certain acts which I am advised amount to treason, being overt acts of levying war against the United States, the said persons, exceeding one hundred in number, and armed and arrayed in a warlike manner, having on the seventh day of this present month of March, proceeded to the house of Abraham Levering, in the town of Bethlehem, and there compelled WILLIAM NICHOLS, marshal of the United States, in and for the district of Pennsylvania, to desist from the execution of certain legal process in his hands to be executed, and having compelled him to discharge and set at liberty, certain persons whom he had arrested by virtue of criminal process, duly issued for offences against the United States, and having impeded and prevented the commissioner and the assessors appointed in conformity with the laws aforesaid, in the County of Northampton aforesaid, by threats of personal injury, from executing the said laws, avowing as the motives of these illegal and treasonable proceedings, an intention to prevent by force of arms, the execution of the said laws, and to withstand by open violence, the lawful authority of the government of the United States. AND WHEREAS, by the Constitution and laws of the United States, I am authorised, whenever the laws of the United States shall be opposed, or the execution thereof obstructed in any state, by combinations too powerful to be suppressed by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, or by the powers vested in the marshals, to call forth military force to suppress such combinations, and to cause the laws to be duly executed: And whereas it is in my judgment necessary to call forth military force in order to suppress the combinations aforesaid, and cause the laws aforesaid to be duly executed; and I have accordingly determined so to do under the solemn conviction that the essential interests of the United States demand it. WHEREFORE, I JOHN ADAMS, President of the United States, do hereby command all persons being insurgents as aforesaid, and all others whom it may concern, on or before Monday next, being the eighteenth day of this present month, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes: and I do moreover warn all persons whomsoever, against aiding, abetting or comforting the perpetrators of the aforesaid treasonable acts, and I do require all officers and others, good and faithful citizens according to their respective duties, and the laws of the land, to exert their utmost endeavors to prevent and suppress such dangerous and unlawful proceedings.

L. S.

IN TESTIMONY whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents, and signed the same with my hand: Done at the City of Philadelphia, the twelfth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine, and of the Independence of the said United States of America the twenty-third.

JOHN ADAMS.

To the Creditors of William Richards, Deceased.

THE real estate of William Richards having been recently sold, the creditors of said estate are requested to furnish their accounts immediately, as a dividend will be struck on the first day of May next and paid at any time afterwards, on application to

WILLIAM BELL.

Philadelphia, 25th Feb. 1799. m.th.t1May

New-York, March 11.

A gentleman of the strictest veracity assures us, that a letter has been received in town from Philadelphia, from a person in office, unfolding a new item in the catalogue of French villainies, the substance of which is as follows:

That at the very time citoyen Talleyrand was playing off his villainous hypocrisy, in his correspondence with Mr. Gerry, orders were absolutely dispatched to St. Domingo, requiring Hedouville to prepare a body of armed troops for an attack on the southern states, and to embace the first favorable moment for effecting his infernal purposes. It is added, that the vigilance of the British cruizers alone deterred this fiend from putting his diabolical plan into execution.

The same letter makes mention of the tale of the Tubs, stating that immediately on the receipt of the news, an express was sent to Charleston by order of government, requiring those sons of darkness, those tools of the great and incomprehensible beast, to repair to Philadelphia, in order that they might receive the just reward of their works.

Capt. Smith, of the sloop Nancy, arrived this morning, in 8 days from Charleston, informs that those infamous incendiaries, who were sent on the business of exciting a revolution among the negroes in the southern states, and who by the vigilence of our executive were happily detected, are still confined in the fort, with the additional security of being in irons. A guard was constantly kept on board the vessel. We may therefore place confidence in the statement copied from the Charleston paper.

Baltimore, March 11.

On Monday night last, two attempts were made to set fire again to the borough of Norfolk. The mayor and aldermen are using their best endeavors to bring the incendiaries to punishment, and have offered a reward of 500 dollars for their apprehension.

TO THE

Promoters of Literature.

THE managers of the Beula Seminary, impelled by motives of pure morality, having resolved to dispose of the following property by way of LOTTERY, in order to assist them in erecting a convenient building for the accommodation of one hundred students, and the necessary professors in the different departments of science—do offer for sale three hundred and fifty lots in BEULA, each fifty-eight feet by one hundred and twenty-five, at twenty dollars per ticket, each ticket entitled to a lot to be determined by ballot; ten dollars to be paid on receipt of the ticket, and the remaining ten on the delivery of the deed. The ballot to take place before impartial men, as soon as the whole number of tickets are sold.

The managers, anticipating the difficulty of obtaining cash for the whole, have resolved to receive an equivalent, for some of the lots, in select books; philosophical apparatus, or in produce and materials for building, delivered on the spot.

It may be observed, that the value of prizes in this lottery will be more than double the amount of all the tickets; for 350 lots, would at their average estimation, produce at least 15,750 dollars; whilst, according to the present proposals, the sum obtained for them will be only 7,000 dollars.

Tickets may be had during this winter, of Morgan J. Rhees, president of the board of managers, no. 177, south Second-street, Philadelphia; who will receive proposals and plans for the erection of the building. It is intended to be of brick or stone; its situation on the summit of a gradual rising eminence, commanding an extensive prospect of the surrounding country; an observatory to be on its top.

Land and out lots in the vicinity of the Town may be had on moderate terms by applying as above. Mechanics and laborers, of good morals will meet with encouragement.
